Who we are

Be bold. Be innovative. Be a 'Strathclyder'.

We are the University of Strathclyde. Our vision is bold and ground breaking, placing us amongst the world's leading international technological universities. We are vibrant, dynamic and passionate about solving the challenges facing society and industry through our cutting-edge, multi-disciplinary research, education and knowledge-exchange with global partners.

We are seeking to appoint extraordinary Professors / Readers who align with our strategic themes.

For more information visit the Strathclyde Global Talent Programme Website:

Our strategic focus

Our ocean, air and space theme aims to underpin the development of technologies that focus on innovation, performance, sustainability and safety. Our work supports ocean & space environments, space exploration and air & maritime transportation.

There is a need for future aerospace and naval systems that are more efficient and more resilient than what is available today. These new systems must be capable of completing more advanced tasks and missions to contribute to a safer and more sustainable world.

If your ocean, air and space research focuses on any of the following areas, we'd love to hear from you:

- Satellite & space systems
- Sustainable transport
- Risk, safety & reliability (resilience)
- Remote sensing
- Robotics & autonomy
- Ocean engineering

The opportunity

We would love to hear from you if you have an internationally recognised research portfolio in this area, are publishing in leading international journals, are actively pursuing funding whilst building impactful collaborative links with industrial and business partners and if you have a passion for leading on teaching and learning. In keeping with our commitment to equality and diversity, we encourage applications from all sections of the community, particularly those who can support our Athena SWAN activity, which inspires the advancement and representation of women in higher education.

You'll be rewarded with:

- A generous remuneration package, with notable additional financial and non-financial benefits including pension and (where appropriate) a contribution towards relocation costs;
- Excellent start-up support;
- Initially reduced teaching and management duties; and
- Regular career review, with the opportunity to receive additional remuneration in recognition of outstanding contribution.

Job Description

The following notes requirements for a Professorial appointment. For Reader appointment, the criteria is adjusted to reflect your growing international reputation and experience. Please see Reader Job Description here.
